Mr. Ashcroft, It is time to move toward as much financial stability as possible. End the Microsoft litigation. Perhaps Microsoft took advantage of their proprietary system by providing the users with more value for their money. So, what else is new. If IBM hadn't foolishly allowed Microsoft to keep the rights to DOS it would be IBM who would be under the gun. If Apple had grown to #1 with their proprietary system, they would be under fire. It has already cost Microsoft, stockholders, related industries and the American people more that is deserved.
